»»» Closing of the Debate Project: A Journey of Collaboration and Growth

As the Debate Project comes to a close, we are pleased to share the highlights of our last partners' meeting, held in Pozuelo de Alarcón. This meeting, held within the framework of the prestigious IMAT Congress at ESIC University, brought together representatives from Turkey, Portugal, Greece, Romania and Spain, all united in their commitment to advancing the art of debate.

Our first day was packed with enriching activities that truly demonstrated the power of debate. We attended interesting IMAT lectures that broadened our perspectives and participated in a captivating exhibition debate that showcased the skills and knowledge we have developed throughout the project.

In addition to these engaging experiences, we spent time evaluating the activities carried out during the project and, more importantly, reflecting on the success of the local seminars organised in our respective countries.

The opportunity to connect with people who share our passion for critical thinking and effective communication was incredibly inspiring. The exchange of ideas and experiences reinforced our collective commitment to fostering these essential skills, and we can't wait to see how these connections will influence the future of debate education.

We will also delve into the intricacies of debate-based training design during our local seminar. Hosted by ESIC University, we will explore innovative approaches to creating impactful training experiences that build on the successes of our project.

We extend our deepest gratitude to the IMAT Congress for hosting us and providing a platform for such a meaningful collaboration. Together, we are elevating the art of debate and training the next generation of effective communicators and critical thinkers.

Stay tuned as we continue to share our journey to foster excellence in debate and train future debaters.
